WESTMINSTER, JANUARY 21.

THIS day his Majeſty came to the Houſe of Peers, and being in his Royal robes ſeated on the Throne with the uſual ſolemnity, Sir Francis Molyneux, Gentleman Uſher of the Black Rod, was ſent with a Meſſage from his Majeſty to the Houſe of Commons, commanding their attendance in the Houſe of Peers: The Commons being come thither accordingly, his Majeſty was pleaſed to make the following moſt gracious Speech:

HIS MAJESTY'S Moſt Gracious SPEECH to both Houſes of PARLIAMENT, on Tueſday January 21ſt, 1772.

My Lords and Gentlemen,

IT gives me much ſatisfaction, that nothing in the ſituation of our affairs, either foreign or domeſtic, has obliged me to require your attendance earlier than might have been conſiſtent with your private convenience; and that now you are met together, you will find yourſelves at liberty to give your whole attention to the eſtabliſhment of wiſe and uſeful regulations of law, and to the extenſion of our Commercial Advantages.

The performance of the engagement of the King of Spain, in the reſtitution of Port Egmont and Falkland's Iſland, and the repeated aſſurances I have received of the pacific diſpoſition of that court, as well as of other powers, promiſe to my ſubjects the continuance of peace; and we may, with the greater confidence, hope, that we ſhall not be diſturbed in the enjoyment of this bleſſing, as there is no reaſon to apprehend that we ſhall become involved in the troubles which ſtill unhappily prevail in one part of Europe.

The danger of the farther ſpreading of the infectious ſickneſs in Europe is, I truſt, very much abated. But I muſt recommend it to you, not to ſuffer our happineſs, in having been hitherto preſerved from ſo dreadful a calamity, to leſſen your vigilance in the uſe of every reaſonable precaution for our ſafety.

Gentlemen of the Houſe of Commons,

I have ordered the eſtimates for the ſervice of the current year to be laid before you. I make no doubt you will ſee the propriety of maintaining a reſpectable eſtabliſhment of my Naval Forces: I am pleaſed, however, to find, that I ſhall be under no neceſſity of aſking of you, at this time, any extraordinary aid.

My Lords and Gentlemen,

The concerns of this country are ſo various and extenſive, as to require the moſt vigilant and active attention; and ſome of them, as well from remoteneſs of place, as from other circumſtances, are ſo peculiarly liable to abuſes, and expoſed to danger, that the interpoſition of the Legiſlature for their protection may become neceſſary. If in any ſuch inſtances, either for ſupplying defects, or remedying abuſes, you ſhall find it requiſite to provide any new laws, you may depend upon my ready concurrence in whatever may beſt contribute to the attainment of thoſe ſalutary ends.

The HUMBLE ADDRESS of the Right Honourable the LORDS SPIRITUAL and TEMPORAL, in Parliament aſſembled; preſented to his MAJESTY on Wedneſday, January 22d, 1772.

Moſt gracious Sovereign,

WE, your Majeſty's moſt dutiful and loyal ſubjects, the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, in Parliament aſſembled, return your Majeſty our humble thanks for your moſt gracious Speech from the Throne.

Permit us, SIR, to offer to your Majeſty our moſt dutiful congratulations, on the happy event of the increaſe of your Royal Family, by the birth of another Prince; and to aſſure your Majeſty, that every addition to your Majeſty's domeſtic happineſs, muſt always afford the higheſt ſatisfaction to your faithful ſubjects.

We beg leave to expreſs to your Majeſty our moſt grateful ſenſe of your Majeſty's regard for our private convenience, in not commanding us to an earlier attendance; and to declare to your Majeſty our determination, to give our moſt diligent attention to the promotion of the Domeſtic Intereſts of theſe kingdoms, and the extenſion of our Commercial Advantages, by the eſtabliſhment of uſeful regulations of law.

We return your Majeſty our humble thanks, for your goodneſs and condeſcenſion, in acquainting us, from the Throne, with the reſtitution of Port Egmont and Falkland's Iſland, on the part of the King of Spain; and with the aſſurances your Majeſty has received of the pacific diſpoſition of Foreign Powers. We are made happy by learning, that your Majeſty has no reaſon to apprehend that the peace, which we at preſent enjoy, will be diſturbed by our being anywiſe involved in the calamities of war, which ſtill unhappily prevail in one part of Europe.

Your Majeſty's paternal care in recommending to us a due vigilance in the uſe of every precaution to preſerve this country from that moſt dreadful contagion, from which, under the Divine Providence, it has hitherto been our happineſs to remain free, calls for our ſincereſt acknowledgments, and commands our utmoſt attention.

We beg leave to aſſure your Majeſty, that our moſt diligent endeavours ſhall be employed to frame ſuch laws as ſhall, in our judgment, tend to ſupply the defects, and remedy the abuſes, which may appear to have been introduced in any branch of the various and extenſive concerns of this country: And we look upon your Majeſty's gracious aſſurance of your ready concurrence, in whatever may beſt contribute to the attainment of thoſe ſalutary ends, as a freſh proof of that deſire, which has conſtantly been ſhewn, by your Majeſty, to promote the welfare of your people.

HIS MAJESTY'S Moſt Gracious ANSWER.

MY LORDS,

I THANK you for this loyal and dutiful Addreſs. I receive with pleaſure your congratulations on the increaſe of my family, and the aſſurances of the attention you will give to thoſe objects which I have recommended to you for the public good. Nothing can be more acceptable to me, than the ſenſe you expreſs of my deſire to promote the welfare of my people.

The HUMBLE ADDRESS of the HOUSE of COMMONS to the KING; preſented to his Majeſty on Thurſday, January 23, 1772.

Moſt gracious Sovereign,

WE, your Majeſty's moſt dutiful and loyal ſubjects, the Commons of Great-Britain in Parliament aſſembled, return your Majeſty our humble thanks, for your moſt gracious Speech from the Throne.

It is with unfeigned joy we beg leave to offer to your Majeſty our congratulations on the birth of another Prince, and on the happy recovery of the Queen; who is ſtill more endeared to this nation by every new pledge of ſecurity for the happineſs we enjoy under your Majeſty's auſpicious government, as well as by her Majeſty's amiable virtues.

We return your Majeſty our warmeſt thanks, for your gracious communication of the aſſurances your Majeſty has received from the King of Spain, as well as from other Powers, of their diſpoſition to maintain the public tranquility; and we cannot but feel the greateſt ſatisfaction at the fair proſpect which thoſe aſſurances, and the performance of his Catholic Majeſty's engagement, by the reſtitution of Port Egmont and Falkland's Iſland, afford your Majeſty's ſubjects of the continuance of peace: at the ſame time, we have the greateſt confidence, that the reſpect derived to this nation, from the moderation and firmneſs of your Majeſty's conduct, will continue to preſerve your Majeſty's dominions from the calamities of war, which ſtill unhappily prevail in the diſtant parts of Europe.

We acknowledge with gratitude your Majeſty's paternal care in the precautions your Majeſty has taken to preſerve this kingdom from the infectious ſickneſs with which we have of late been alarmed; and though we have the ſatisfaction to find that, by the bleſſing of Providence, the danger of its ſpreading is now diminiſhed, we will not be negligent, on our part, in taking ſuch meaſures as may from time to time appear beſt calculated to ſecure this nation from the viſitation of ſo dreadful an evil.

Your Majeſty's faithful Commons will chearfully grant to your Majeſty ſuch ſupplies as ſhall be found neceſſary for the ſervice of the current year; and we will be careful to make ſufficient proviſion for the eſtabliſhment of a reſpectable Naval Force, on which, we are truly ſenſible, the ſecurity, as well as the importance, of this nation muſt ever principally depend.

We aſſure your Majeſty, that we will not fail, during this ſeaſon of tranquillity, to employ our time in making ſuch proviſions as may be found neceſſary for the improvement of our laws, and the extenſion of our commerce: and your Majeſty may rely on our vigilant and active attention to thoſe important concerns recommended to us by your Majeſty; and wherever it ſhall be found that, with reſpect to any of theſe, either from the remoteneſs of their ſituation from the ſeat of government, or from other circumſtances, ſuch abuſes prevail as expoſe them to danger, we ſhall think it our duty to endeavour, by every regulation in our power, to remedy thoſe evils, which may in their conſequences ſo eſſentially affect the intereſt and honour of this country.

HIS MAJESTY'S Moſt Gracious ANSWER.

GENTLEMEN,

I THANK you very heartily for this moſt dutiful Addreſs. Your affectionate congratulations on the birth of another Prince, and the regard you expreſs for the Queen, are highly acceptable to me.

I receive with pleaſure and approbation the aſſurances you give me of your zealous endeavours for the extenſion and ſecurity of the National Intereſt and Advantages.

I have nothing ſo much at heart as to ſee my kingdoms flouriſhing in Commerce, and my People happy under my Government.

LONDON, JANUARY 20.

PRINCE Erneſt of Mecklenburgh is now ſaid to be the Toute les Choſes at St. James's, in ſo much, that not a ſingle ſtep is taken in any affair, whether public or domeſtic, without his knowledge, nor a ſingle reſolution entered into without his approbation.

We are aſſured that the Dutcheſs of Cumberland is pregnant, and that her Royal Highneſs's ſituation has been notified in form.

A commiſſion is preparing to paſs the Great Seal, for appointing a new Board of Trade and Plantations.

General Paoli has paid a viſit to the Duke of Cumberland at Windſor.

JANUARY 24. Colonel Luttrell has declared that he has an intention to vacate his ſeat in Parliament.

On Tueſday a petition was preſented to the Upper Houſe, praying leave to bring in a bill to diſſolve the marriage of Lord Ligonier; the prayer of the petition was granted.

We are aſſured that the greateſt cordiality ſubſiſts between the Duke of Grafton and Lord Camden, in ſo much, that the former has ſtrongly recommended the latter to be Preſident of the Privy Council.

It is ſaid by the politicians at the weſtern coffee houſes, that Lord North will very ſhortly become of more conſequence to the ſtate, and of courſe more fixed and arbitrary in his employment, than any miniſter in the preſent reign. His Lordſhip was firſt advanced as a temporary ſubſtitute to the Duke of Grafton, but he has jockeyed his Grace, and is now become the principal.

Colonel Luttrell's intended oppoſition to the Court, ariſes by no means from the indignity caſt upon his ſiſter, but on the neglect he himſelf has experienced from the miniſtry, after venturing his life in their ſervice. Lord Suffolk, Mr. Wedderburne, and Mr. Whately, who were ſtrong in the popular party at the time of the Middleſex election, are much better provided for than the Colonel, and have their annual Thouſands, while he has only Ten Shillings a day by being Adjutant General in Ireland.

JANUARY 28. Letters from Amſterdam ſay, that the Dutch will have 18 ſail of men of war ready for ſervice in April next, and that they intend to build ſeveral new ſhips, moſt of their old ones having been found entirely unfit for uſe.

Letters from Paris ſpeak of a negotiation being on the carpet, for a treaty of defenſive alliance between the Courts of France, Spain, Vienna, and Stockholm.

JANUARY 31. By the death of the late Princeſs of Heſſe Caſſel, her Royal Highneſs Princeſs Amelia becomes the only remaining perſon of the children of King George II.

The new parliament of Toulouſe has rejudged the cauſe of Peter Paul Sirven, the Feudiſt of Caſtres, his wife and ſon, who, about ten years ago, were condemned on an action of parricide; and have, by a ſolemn arret, declared the innocence of the condemned, adjudged the former judges to pay all expences of the proceſs, re-eſtabliſhed the family of Sirven in their honours and goods; and have further ordered this arret to be made public at the expence of their former judges.

On Wedneſday juſt as the Levee at St. James's was going to begin, an expreſs arrived from Denmark, with an account that a revolution had happened there. The Queen, it ſeems, had, for ſome time, been intriguing with her phyſician. Her growing power, and conduct, occaſioned a general alarm and diſſatisfaction among the citizens. They ſuddenly roſe and ſurrounded the palace; and as ſuddenly poſſeſſed themſelves of every department in it. The phyſician was inſtantly put into an iron cage. The Queen was made priſoner. And the King was carried directly to the ſenate; whoſe deliberations they were attending, when the expreſs came away. Though the King of Denmark is one of the moſt deſpotic Sovereigns in the world, yet he muſt ſubmit to his people. He is now in their poſſeſſion. When the expreſs left Copenhagen, conditions to the King were preparing, which, as there is no material accuſation againſt him, are ſaid to be moderate. Only two of them are at present ſpoken of. Theſe are, that he ſhall ſign an inſtrument diſſolving his marriage; and that the Queen ſhall be impriſoned in one of the caſtles for life. Upon the news of this event, the Levee at St. James's was forbid.

Another account ſays, "The Nobles having the fulleſt information that there had been for ſome time paſt improper connection between the Queen of Denmark and her phyſician; and having great reaſon to ſuppoſe, from the King's late illneſs, that poiſon had frequently been adminiſtered to him by the ſaid phyſician, went in a body to the palace, and inſiſted upon the King's repairing immediately to the Senate, to ſign an order for the Queen's perpetual impriſonment, and for the immediate execution of the phyſician. The King at firſt ſhed tears; but being ſoon convinced by the Nobles of the Queen's infidelity, repaired immediately to the Senate with great manlineſs and compoſure, and ſigned the order for the Queen's impriſonment for life, and for the execution of the phyſician, whoſe head was immediately taken off. The Queen was carried to a remote part of the kingdom, and put into confinement. She demanded her children; the youngeſt (a girl) ſhe was ſuffered to take with her, but the eldeſt (a boy) was refuſed her, and remains at Copenhagen with the King."

A third account ſays, "The ſituation of the Court of Denmark is truly unhappy, the intrigue the Queen had, we are told, was with her phyſician who went from hence. The King hath not been well for above a year, and many hints have been given in the papers concerning him to his diſadvantage; but his ſituation was owing to what had been preſcribed by that phyſician, and, as we are informed, was intended to deſtroy him by ſlow degrees; happily there was a ſuſpicion, bureaus were opened, and proof ſufficient found of the criminality of the parties, upon which the Doctor was immediately diſpatched to the other world, and the Queen confined: Which confinement, it is thought, will continue as long as ſhe lives."

The gentleman who arrived expreſs from Copenhagen on Wedneſday at St. James's, is the Secretary to the Engliſh Ambaſſador, Mr. Keith, at that Court: He arrived at eleven in the morning, and ſet out on his return at eleven the ſame night, by the way of Dover to Calais, attended by one of the King's Meſſengers, in order to prepare proper carriages and the packet for expediting his return.

FEBRUARY 1. It is ſaid that advice has been received from Copenhagen, that the Queen Dowager is appointed to the Regency. The Nobles are in poſſeſſion of the King.

To the extraordinary reports in yeſterday's papers, a gentleman who knows much of foreign affairs, informs us, that he looks on the whole as a State Trick, in order to take an advantage of the youth and inexperience of an amiable young couple. That every reformation, or innovation (as they ill-naturedly term it) made by the King of Denmark ſince his return home from viſiting England, has been repreſented as coming from his Conſort, and a party has been long forming to hurt her, and the King through her, in the opinion of the people; and, no doubt, the late ferment on reforming a regiment of guards, is ill-naturedly attributed to the ſame agent: That there is a Queen Dowager in that kingdom, who is ſaid to have been ever intriguing, during the life of the late King, in favour of a ſon by herſelf, who is now grown up: That as to the part attributed to the phyſician, jealouſy will go great lengths; and as the Queen was unhappily debarred from having any natives of England near her, except this phyſician, the moſt innocent meetings, when ill-naturedly and wickedly miſrepreſented, will ſerve to blacken the brighteſt character.

Yeſterday James Townſhend Oſwald, Eſq; kiſſed his Majeſty's hand on being appointed Secretary of the Leeward Iſlands, in the room of Saville Cockayne Cuſt, Eſq; deceaſed.

Extract of a letter from Copenhagen, to a Merchant in London.

"I cannot at preſent, for reaſons of prudence, ſend you a full account of our preſent confuſion, nor are Court Facts ſufficiently authentic as yet; and I would not wiſh to amuſe you with the many abſurd hear-ſays which are picked up in converſation, but thus much I can tell you, that the people in general appear to be happy at what has paſt, as it will totally deſtroy the curſed influence of a double Cabinet, under which the people have for ſome time groaned. Though all the public buſineſs is carried on in the King's name, his Majeſty was nothing more than a tool to ſanctify the machinations of a wicked favourite and his junto; the people have not ſtopt to attribute the influence of this favourite to a criminal familiarity with their Queen, and though ſuch as venture at this bold declaration are called defamers by all the court, many good and wiſe people have for ſome time expreſſed their doubts; whether theſe are miſtaken or not, will appear before it is long. The general indignation to ſee the King abuſed and the people oppreſt; to find the wiſeſt and beſt men diſmiſt from poſts of truſt and honour, and ſucceeded by ſlaves and minions of this wanton favourite, has rouſed ſome patriotic ſpirits from their lethargy, and you will ſhortly hear that the King is reſcued from the hands of this wicked junto; the peace and quiet of the nation reſtored; the vile favourite puniſhed as he deſerves; and the unhappy Lady---- but I'll not ſay what, as ſhe is an unhappy Lady."

We hear the following removes will be made in the Royal Navy: John Montague, Eſq; Rear Admiral of the Blue, to be Rear Admiral of the White. Lord Edgcombe, Vice Admiral of the Blue, to be Vice Admiral of the White. James Young, Eſq; Vice Admiral of the White, to be Vice Admiral of the Red. Thomas Pye, Eſq; Vice Admiral of the Red, to be Admiral of the Blue. His Grace the Duke of Bolton, and Sir Thomas Frankland, Bart. Admirals of the Blue, to be appointed Admirals of the White Squadron.

The report of a difference ſubſiſting between the Earl of Chatham and Lord Camden, is totally groundleſs.

FEBRUARY 3. Captain Sutherland, who was detected in an amour with the Lady of General Scott, is gone out of the army on half pay.

Extract of a Letter from Altona, January 24.

"On the 17th inſtant, her Majeſty the Queen, with the young Princeſs and Lady Moſtyn, under a guard of 30 dragoons, were conducted to the fortreſs of Cronenburgh. The Counts Struenſee and Brandt, the Counſellor Struenſee, General Gahler and his Lady, are likewiſe ſent to priſon; the Maſter of the Horſe, Rulow, General Gude, Colonel Falkenſchiold, Lieut. General Heſſelberg, the Privy-Counſellor Wildebrand, the State's Secretary Zoega, Panning, and more are arreſted in their houſes, under ſtrong guards. The papers belonging to the abovementioned perſons are ſealed up, and commiſſioners appointed to enquire into the affair. His Majeſty gave all his orders relative to the above, after he came from the maſked ball, at one o'clock in the morning, which were directed to be immediately executed."

"Council-Office. Prince Frederick, Count Rantzaw, Tott and Auſten, the Prince Charles, and his Lady are ordered to attend.

"Commiſſioners to examine the affair. Joel Wind, Bream, Stampe, Lupdorf, Karſtens, Sexel, Koford Aucker; Prince Frederick is to be Vice-Regent."

On Saturday afternoon a ſecond meſſenger was ſent from the Secretary of State's office, with diſpatches to Robert-Murray Keith, Eſq; his Majeſty's Envoy Extraordinary at the Court of Copenhagen.

FEBRUARY 4. The Queen Dowager of Denmark is the widow of Frederick the Fifth, who died in the year 1766. She was the Princeſs Juliana Maria, of Brunſwick Wolfenbuttel, and was born the 4th of September, 1729. She is ſaid to be of a lively genius, fond of intrigue, and implacable in her reſentments. Her ſon, by the late King, is Prince Frederick d'Oldenbourg (born the 11th of October, 1753) who is far from being a favourite with the people, from his uncourteous diſpoſition.

FEBRUARY 5. Colonel Keith, the Britiſh Miniſter at the Daniſh Court, hath ſhewn the greateſt ſpirit and good conduct during the late revolution. It ſeems the Senate, in the firſt tranſports of their fury, had given orders for putting the Queen to immediate death; they had (without hearing her defence, and without any form of trial) unanimouſly declared her guilty of the adultery, and of poiſoning her huſband; upon which Mr. Keith inſtantly repaired to the Senate-Houſe, and ſolemnly proteſted againſt any act of violence being offered to the Queen; he in the ſtrongeſt terms urged her innocence, and the improbability of the accuſations againſt her, and concluded with denouncing the vengeance of the Britiſh nation, and the terrors of an Engliſh fleet, againſt the Senate and people of Denmark, if any act of violence and injuſtice was committed on a daughter of Britain, and the Siſter of the King his Sovereign.

It is determined to ſend a yacht to Copenhagen, on board of which is to be embarked a Nobleman of Diſtinction, who is to be nominated by his Majeſty, to demand of the Senate that the Queen of Denmark may be reſtored to her liberty and ſent home; alſo that a fleet of men of war is immediately to follow the yacht, which is, in caſe the demand is not complied with, to bombard the place.

On Monday evening ſome diſpatches were received at the Secretary of State's office from Admiral Rodney at Jamaica. By this veſſel it is ſaid, there is advice, that a frigate was diſpatched from Jamaica, to reconnoitre the Havana; that ſhe ſaw there ſixteen ſail of the line, and three frigates, all with their ſails bent.

FEBRUARY 6. We are poſitively aſſured, that the Royal Family are fully convinced of the infamy of the charge againſt the virtue of the Queen of Denmark---their whole anxiety is on account of the unmerited impriſonment of her Majeſty; and the apprehenſions of her privately falling a ſacrifice to the intrigues of the Queen-Mother, before there can have been time for the interpoſion and firm remonſtrances of the Court of Great-Britain, to remove the danger with which the unhappy Queen is ſurrounded.

A correſpondent aſſures us, that Mungo owes his continuance in Court Favour to his being poſſeſſed of ſo many miniſterial Secrets that it would not be ſafe to diſmiſs him.

FEBRUARY 8. Such was the Queen of Denmark's aſtoniſhment when ſhe was made acquainted with her fate, that ſhe walked about her apartment bare-footed, without being ſenſible that ſhe had neither ſhoes nor ſtockings on. And when Lieutenant Bay poſted himſelf at her chamber door to prevent her going to the King's apartment, her anger roſe to the higheſt pitch, and ſhe ſaid to him in the Daniſh language, Wilt thou be gone? Whilſt on the road to Cronenburgh the Queen ſpoke but little to Lady Moſtyn who accompanied her.

They write from Stockholm, that the Grand Duke of Holſtein Gottorp, uncle to the King of Denmark, is, by the Queen's council, baniſhed the Daniſh dominions, and all his effects confiſcated.

When the Queen of Denmark was ſeized, the conſpirators tied her hands behind, which being told the King, affected him very much, and muſt convince the world, that the Dowager gave orders for it, as none but a woman could order a Queen to be thus treated.

Yeſterday policies were opened in the city, when ſix guineas were given to receive one hundred in caſe there be a war between Great-Britain and Denmark within ſix months. Upwards of Twenty thouſand pounds were done.

FEBRUARY 10. Lord North declared in a late debate, that he dreaded ſome hoſtilities from the French in the Eaſt-Indies. In Europe they are in no condition to break with Great-Britain.

Yeſterday the Lords Mansfield and Camden, both attended in the Houſe of Lords, and talked very familiar with each other.

The Lords of the Treaſury have appointed Laughlan Mackclane, Eſq; to be Collector of his Majeſty's Cuſtoms at Philadelphia.

The Portland man of war, and the Endeavour bark, from Plymouth for the South-Seas, with the aſtronomers on board, arrived ſafe at the Mederas in December laſt.

His Majeſty was determined to remove yeſterday, with the Queen, to Richmond, to give vent in ſolitude and retirement to a load of complicated griefs which hardly a Royal Breaſt was ever preſſed with before; but his phyſicians oppoſed this reſolution ſo ſtrongly, on account of the damp and unwholeſomeneſs of the weather, that he was prevailed upon, though with much difficulty, to defer it for a day or two.

The Society in the Strand have given Mr. St. Pierre, a French gentleman from South-Carolina, their gold medal for producing wines in that part of the Britiſh dominions; but the banks of the Miſſiſippi are ſaid to be ſo uncommonly favourable to the culture of vines, that a quarter caſk of delicious wine has been produced from a ſingle ſlip of the Burgundy grape.

FEBRUARY 13. Orders are ſent to the Governor of Mahon, and the commander of the fleet in the Mediterranean, to ſtop the Daniſh men of war in that part of the world till further orders. This ſpirited act of the miniſtry will greatly embarraſs the Queen-Mother of Denmark's party, who have given orders for that fleet to ſail immediately for Copenhagen.

The additional Commiſſioners of revenue in Ireland have been, contrary to law, ſworn into their offices. The firſt conſequence of this arbitrary ſtep will be a remonſtrance to his Majeſty, which is to be preſented by a very reſpectable deputation of the Commons of Ireland, conſiſting of 21 members, who are expected in about a week or ten days.

"The laſt letters from Dantzick of good authority adviſe, that an Officer from the Grand Signior is now at Jaſſy, the capital of Moldavia, the head quarters of the Field Marſhal Count Romanzow, negotiating a treaty of peace, which it is ſuppoſed will be preceded by a ſuſpenſion of arms, as an inſurrection is apprehended at Conſtantinople, unleſs the populace are appeaſed, on account of the high price of proviſions, which nothing can remedy but the reſtoration of peace."

Notwithſtanding the Mails from Holland aſſert the contrary, a ſubſequent letter from Paris mentions the death of the Empreſs Queen of Hungary as a fact! The ſilence of the Imperial miniſter at our Court ſeems to favour the account; ſhould it prove true, the moſt ſubtle politicians ſeem unanimous in their opinion, that the young Emperor will ſpeedily make a declaration of war, as he ſeems poſſeſſed of an enterprizing and martial genius. What effect this would have upon the tranquility of Europe, may in ſome degree be foreſeen.

FEBRUARY 15. There is certain information received that the King of Pruſſia is the main ſpring in a Northern Revolution. He has ſecured Sweden, he perſuades Ruſſia, he rules the Councils of Holland, he commands in Denmark; the whole North is at his devotion.

Extract of a letter from Hamburgh, January 28.

"Advices from Saxony bring the moſt dreadful accounts of the miſery and want which reign in ſome provinces of that Electorate, particularly in the circle of the mountains named Ertzgebourg, where the inhabitants die of hunger and the want of every neceſſary. The garriſon of the little town of Senſtenbourg is retired, on account of a contagious diſtemper which has broke out among them. By the ſame advices we learn, that the Elector has made a great reform among his troops; three companies of each regiment have been diſmiſſed, and he has reduced thoſe that remain to a very ſmall number of men. The ſame diminution has been made in the cavalry, where there are but fifteen men in a company kept up."

FEBRUARY 18. Among a variety of particulars that ought to be remembered to the honour of the late Princeſs Dowager of Wales, was her appointing, without any ſolicitation, that real ornament to human nature, Dr. Stephen Hales to be her Clerk of the Cloſet, and upon his death erecting, at her own expence, a handſome monument for him in Weſtminſter-Abbey.---She afterwards beſtowed the ſame office on the celebrated Dr. Edward Young, author of Night Thoughts, &c.---So ſolicitous was that much injured Lady, upon every occaſion, to diſtinguiſh and reward real merit.

In purſuance of an order of the Houſe of Commons of Ireland, his Majeſty's Letters Patent, appointing the ſeparate Boards of Cuſtom and Exciſe, were laid before the Houſe, as were alſo the King's Letters to the Lord Lieutenant for that purpoſe. Mr. Ponſonby moved, that they might be read, and accordingly the Clerk read the Patent, appointing Sir William Oſborne, Sir Francis Bernard, (the Tyrant of New-England) John Monck Maſon, Robert Waller, and William Montgomery, to be Commiſſioners of Exciſe. As this patent conſiſted of no leſs than five ſkins of parchment, the Houſe was pretty well tired before it was finiſhed; and the other patent and letters were ordered to lie on the table, to be peruſed by the members.

ST. JAMES'S, January 17. His Majeſty has been pleaſed to appoint John-Gilpin Sawry, Eſq; to be Deputy Governor and Superintendant of the Trade of Senegambia.

JANUARY 25. This day arrived Monſieur Koch, Secretary to his Serene Highneſs the Hereditary Prince of Heſſe Caſſel, with the melancholy account of the death of her Royal and moſt Serene Highneſs the Landgravine of Heſſe Caſſel, who departed this life on the 14th inſtant, at Hanau, univerſally lamented.

FEBRUARY 8. This morning, between the hours of ſix and ſeven, Her Royal Highneſs the Princeſs Dowager of Wales, departed this life, to the great grief of their Majeſties and all the Royal Family, after a very long and painful illneſs, which ſhe bore with the greateſt fortitude and reſignation.

FEBRUARY 11. The King has been pleaſed to conſtitute and appoint Soame Jenyns, Edward Eliot, John Roberts, and Bamber Gaſcoyne, Eſqrs. the Hon. Robert Spencer, Eſq; commonly called Lord Robert Spencer, the Hon. George Greville, Eſq; commonly called Lord Greville, and William Jollyſe, Eſq; to be his Majeſty's Commiſſioners for trade and plantations.

FEBRUARY 15. By his Majeſty's ſhip Florida, arrived at Spithead, a letter has been received from Captain Burr, of his Majeſty's ſloop the Hound, dated at Port Egmont, in Falkland's Iſland, the 10th of November laſt, giving an account that, in the proceeding month, two Spaniſh veſſels had arrived there with ſuch artillery, ſtores, &c. as could not be ſurrendered to Captain Stott at the ſurrender of the Iſland; and that a Spaniſh Commiſſary, appointed for the purpoſe, had delivered them to Capt. Burr with the greateſt punctuality and exactneſs.

NEWCASTLE, January 18. We hear from Carliſle, that the paſſage between Longtown and Gretnay-Green, is open for travellers in carriages, &c. ſo that the flow from Solway-Moſs muſt be ſubſided.

DUBLIN, January 23. Yeſterday the Right Honourable the Lord Mayor, Recorder and Aldermen, went from the Tholſel to the Caſtle, attended by all the City Regalia, to dine with his Excellency Lord Townſhend, by invitation, and were entertained in a very elegant manner.

FEBRUARY 4. This day the Houſe of Commons met according to adjournment, when Sir George McCartney acquainted them, that as he had informed them of his Excellency's reſolution, to proceed no farther in relation to the new commiſſion (for dividing the Revenue Board into two different Boards, one of Cuſtoms, and one of Exciſe, and appointing five new Commiſſioners) until his Majeſty's further pleaſure was known, he had now to acquaint the Houſe, that his Majeſty had ſent further orders to proceed therein, and the new Commiſſion were paſſing the Great Seal. The Houſe was ſilent for ſome minutes, after which warm debates enſued; at length one of the Members moved, that the proceedings relative to this affair, ſhould be laid before the Houſe on Tueſday next. This being agreed to, another motion was made that the King's letters ſhould be laid before the Houſe next Tueſday; this was alſo agreed to, and the Houſe adjourned till next day.

THAT valuable LOT of LAND in Charles-Town, known or diftinguifhed in the plan or model thereof, by the No. 191, fituated at the weft end, and on the north fide of Trade ftreet, between the houfes of Alexander Frafer, Efq; and the late Captain Thomas Elliott, deceafed, containing in front on faid ftreet, fifty-eight feet, eight inches, or thereabouts, with the advantage of a paffage; and in depth one hundred and forty three feet, or thereabouts; whereon is a BRICK HOUSE defigned for kitchens or two tenements that were intended to be built, and will ftill ferve thofe purpofes. This Lot has a fine fouth profpect of Afhley-River, and as the proprietor of the oppofite lot may perhaps make his front on Friend-ftreet to be uniform with the other houfes built at the fouth end and weft fide of that ftreet, with the garden running eaft and weft, there will be no obftruction to the foutherly air from Afhley-River, which muft be very agreeable in the hot months, and may prevent the communication of any malignant diftemper that may rage in the interior parts of the town, or contagion arifing from noxious effluvia. Its vicinity alfo to feveral good landing places on Afhley-River, particularly the Sugar-Houfe-Creek, where a public market will no doubt be foon eftablifhed, will greatly enhance the value of all lands in that part of the town; alfo being fituated in an excellent neighbourhood of reputable inhabitants, renders it not only more eligible, but fecure againft the danger of fire; and being a vacant lot, the purchafer will have the fatisfaction of erecting buildings thereon according to his own tafte for pleafure or profit; the area or ground plot admitting either of one large manfion houfe of twelve rooms, or to be divided into two tenements of fix rooms each, with land fufficient behind for a kitchen garden to each. And, as houfes in that airy and pleafant part of the town are feldom or ever empty, it will afford a certain good income quarterly.

The purchafer may have one, two, three, or four years credit, giving bond, with approved perfonal fecurity, and paying the intereft punctually every year, and if he chufes it, one third or one fourth part of the principal will be received annually, by which inftalments, the purchafe money will be eafily and infenfibly funk.

ADDITION to the SOUTH-CAROLINA GAZETTE, and COUNTRY JOURNAL.

TUESDAY, APRIL 28, 1772. No. 235. [Printed by CHARLES CROUCH, in Elliott-ſtreet.]

FROM THE CONFINES OF TURKEY, December 4.

THE Kiaya, or firſt officer of Abaſa Pacha, who, after commanding a reinforcement ſent to the Crimea, had been beheaded at Trebiſonde, by order of the Grand Signior, continues his ravages, to revenge the death of his maſter and benefactor. Being in poſſeſſion of the treaſures of his late maſter, he has employed it in raiſing a body of men, with the aſſiſtance of whom he has ſeized a Caravan, conſiſting of 200 camels, guarded by 300 men: Having 20 pieces of cannon and a great quantity of ammunition, he has ſtruck terror even into the fortified places, he burns and pillages all he comes near, and it is greatly feared he will give much trouble to the Ottoman Empire.

LEGHORN, December 27. We have juſt received an authentic account from the Archipelago, of a deſcent made upon the iſland of Metlin, by Prince Dolgorouſky, who commanded the troops; he found at firſt ſome reſiſtance, but by his bravery and good conduct, he ſoon drove the enemy into the fortreſs, which was vigorouſly bombarded by the fleet, under the command of Count Orlow; Prince Dolgorouſky took poſſeſſion of the harbour and arſenal, and burnt a man of war of 80 guns, one of 70, one large galliot, and all the ſhips which were in the docks, and ready to be launched, together with the docks and magazines of timber and oil; the ſoldiers were permitted to plunder the town, and they made a conſiderable booty there. After theſe tranſactions the fleet returned to Paros, carrying along with them many ſmall veſſels that were in the harbour of Metlin.

PISA, December 27. His Royal Highneſs the Duke of Glouceſter went from hence on Monday laſt to Legborn, and the day following embarked on board his Britannic Majeſty's ſhip Alarm, in order to proceed to Naples. On his Royal Highneſs's paſſing the fortreſs, he was ſaluted with 51 guns; a Dutch man of war, being then in the road, ſaluted his Royal Highneſs with 21 guns; and the ſame number of guns were fired from the Alarm, on his Royal Highneſs's going on board. During the whole time of his Royal Highneſs's reſidence here, the Great Duke and Ducheſs ſhewed him the moſt aſſiduous attention.

COPENHAGEN, January 18. On Thurſday at a maſked ball, the King and Queen being preſent, Colonel Scheffer, Colonel of the guards, went up to the Count Struenſee, late phyſician, and then favourite miniſter, and told him he was in arreſt; Count Rantzaw, General and Commander in chief, confirmed it, and he was inſtantly carried away. Then Count Rantzaw ſpoke to the King, and adviſed him, that for the ſafety of the Queen, and to ſave her from the reſentment of the guards and people, he would ſign an order for her confinement, with which requeſt the King complied. Rantzaw then ſecured the Queen, and ſhe was conveyed away in her maſquerade habit to a caſtle at a diſtance. The King was then conducted into an inner apartment, the maſquers, muſicians, ſervants, &c. being kept in by the centinels, who guarded the maſquerade. Upon a ſignal inſtantly given, the greater part of the company threw off their maſquerade dreſſes and appeared armed, declaring for the guards, &c. At the ſame time the burghers, ſailors, and ſoldiers not on duty, ſurrounded the houſe, and with loud ſhouts cried out for good government, and juſtice againſt the Queen and ſome others, and inſiſted that the King ſhould appear. To pacify them, Count Rantzaw brought him to the widow. The people then peremptorily demanded that they ſhould be governed by the old laws, that all the new edicts ſhould be revoked, the late impoſts taken off, that the Queen and adviſers of the new regulations ſhould be puniſhed, that the guards ſhould be reſtored to their rank, and the Queen Dowager be declared Regent. His Majeſty promiſed to comply with theſe ſeveral requeſts; that reſpecting the regency and the guards were inſtantly executed, on which they ſeized the favourites and adviſers of the meaſures complained of, moſt of whom were preſent at the maſquerade; the reſt of the company were then releaſed from the reſtraint to which many of them were obliged unwillingly to ſubmit. The Queen by many is thought innocent of any incontinency, and that all the reports propagated againſt her virtue are no more than political lyes, raiſed by a party to carry on a revolution. What is done with the King, Queen, and other priſoners, is not yet known; but it is ſuppoſed, that he will be obliged to reſign his Crown in favour of his half brother, and that the ſtates will then declare his children illegitimate; previous to which, that ſome of the priſoners will be racked, until they confeſs what will be neceſſary for the plauſible completion of the deſigns of the faction. It is alſo conjectured, that Count Rantzaw will reſtore the Danes to their ancient liberty, and that this deſign has been purſuing for ſome years paſt by the faction. It is expected, that the effects of all Engliſh ſubjects will be ſeized, as a ſecurity, leſt the Court of England ſhould give orders, out of reſentment, for the ſeizure of ours in that kingdom. In fine, the French Councils have at length prevailed.

COPENHAGEN, January 21. His Majeſty has committed the Prince Royal, his ſon, to the care of the Queen Dowager Julia Maria, and has appointed the Lady of Marſhal Numſen to be his governeſs.

All the Queen's houſhold, excepting only three ladies who have been diſmiſſed, ſet out from hence the 19th, for Cronenburgh.

A commiſſion is formed in order to draw up the accuſations againſt the ſtate priſoners. It began to ſit this day for the firſt time.

Our gazettes have given notice, that "To-morrow, by order of his Majeſty, Te Deum will be ſung in all the churches of this capital, for the conſervation (in the preſent circumſtances) of the King, of the Royal family, and of the whole kingdom."

WARSAW, January 4. To-morrow the King will receive, in public, the compliments of the foreign miniſters, the nobility, and other perſons of diſtinction, being the firſt time of his Majeſty's appearance in public ſince his late accident.

COPENHAGEN, January 25. The 22d inſtant, the Chamberlain Lerſher and Captain Duval received their diſmiſſion, with orders to leave this reſidence in three days time, and never to appear in the kingdom again. The new chamberlain Beagenſkiold is ordered to quit this city, and go to Wardenburg. Counſellor Nitſon and the diſmiſſed Lieutenant Struenſee have each received two hundred rix-dollars with orders to quit this kingdom. The Chamber of the Police has publiſhed an order, that all tradeſmen do keep their children, apprentices and family at home, on the 28th and 29th inſt. being the birth-days of the King and Prince Royal; and the inhabitants are alſo forbidden to illuminate or make any open demonſtrations of joy on thoſe days. The magiſtrates of this city no longer deliver out paſſports, and ſuch as want to depart are to aſk for them at our Chancery. The gates of this city, which formerly uſed only to be faſtened with a ſingle bar during the night, are now carefully locked, and the draw-bridges drawn up at the ordinary hour.

HAGUE, February 4. According to our advices from Copenhagen, the Court keeps very ſecret all proceedings relative to the late revolution, eſpecially the motives that gave riſe to it. The commiſſioners appointed to enquire into this affair is compoſed of one member from each department of government, and they have full power to examine what witneſſes they think proper, and all the papers of the priſoners. The public is extremely impatient to have the neceſſary eclairciſſement of this extraordinary event, and it is ſaid that the Court will publiſh a Manifeſto, in order to juſtify its conduct to all Europe. The public in general are of opinion, that this manifeſto will not make its appearance very ſpeedily; and in the mean time it is ſuſpected that ambition, the thirſt after government, and the ſpirit of revenge, have been the principal motives which brought about this extraordinary revolution.

CONSTANTINOPLE, December 24. The Grand Signior has not only conſented to open his coffers in order to furniſh the neceſſary preparations for a fourth campaign, but has reſolved to convert into ſpecie all the golden ornaments that are in his ſeraglio, and among other things the grand golden ciſtern which was formerly uſed by the Grecian Patriarchs for the adminiſtration of baptiſm.

CONSTANTINOPLE, January 3. The laſt letters from the army of the Grand Vizir have brought more bad news. It ſeems the Ruſſians, to the number of 18,000 men, have attacked and entirely defeated, near Siliſtria, a corps of 40,000 Turks, commanded by the Grand Vizir Moeyzoon Zade and three Pachas. And it is ſaid likewiſe that ſome Ruſſian ſhips have entered the port of Bodrum, and burnt ſeveral veſſels which were upon the ſtocks there.

AMSTERDAM, February 6. By the laſt advices from Denmark, we hear that the Queen, who is confined at Cronenburgh, keeps her health, but cannot ſleep, and eats but little. The Queen Dowager carries every thing with a very high hand. Counts Struenſee and Brandt are allowed but half a dollar a day for their ſuſtenance, and they are ſo fettered that they cannot feed themſelves.

THE CHOICE.

Marriage, or true or falſely underſtood,
Our greateſt Evil, or our greateſt Good.

POPE.

WOULD but kind Fate, propitious to my Vow,
The happy Change, I wiſh for, but allow!
This is the Maid, to whom my Heart I'd give,
If in return I could her own receive.
Reaſon, muſt over all her Thoughts preſide,
And ſtricteſt Honour all her Actions guide;
Stedfaſt in Virtue, humanly inclin'd,
And ſolid Senſe muſt teach her pure Mind;
Good-nature deck the Beauties of her Face,
And caſt a Luſtre over every Grace.
When Sorrow prompts the penſive Sigh to riſe,
When heart-felt Grief bedews the drooping Eyes,
Then muſt this Fair, with ſympathetic Heart,
Relieve their Wants, and mitigate their Smart,
Give balmy Comfort to the afflicted Breaſt,
Becalm its Sorrows, ſooth them into Reſt.
Alike eſtrang'd from Vanity and Pride,
Muſt be the Girl to whom I am ally'd;
No fooliſh Blabber of her Sex's Faults;
No foul-mouth'd Slanders muſt polute her Thoughts.
With Wit, good-natur'd, and with Prudence, free;
Her own, as others Faults, diſtinctly ſee.
Gentle, obliging, modeſt and ſincere,
She muſt, by every Act, herſelf endear,
Know what to Wiſdom's ſtated Rules belong,
Know when to ſpeak, and when to hold her Tongue.
Prudently mild, and as diſcreetly gay;
A Subject, not a Slave, to Pleaſure's ſway.
On God's eternal Mercy to rely,
Well pleas'd to live, yet not afraid to die.
A Dreſs not ſway'd by Caprice or Whim,
Neither too modiſh, nor too nicely prim;
But which, tho' plain, denotes a Taſte refin'd,
To neatneſs, cleanlineſs, at once, inclin'd.
Well pleas'd a Parent's Duties to perform,
To ſhield the infant Bud from Pain and Harm,
To tend the young Idea as it rears,
(The happy Preſage of maturer Years)
The Seeds of Virtue to implant within,
And guard each Paſſage of the Soul from Sin.
I aſk not, Fate, a Beauty for to find,
A Perſon comely, with Content at Mind,
A Will reſign'd to every Change of Life;
Are what I hope, and wiſh for in a Wife.
Her Age juſt Twenty, or a little more;
Such is the Girl, I could ſincere adore!
And if to this, kind Heav'n, but impart,
To this fair Nymph, a tender, faithful Heart,---
A Heart, where Truth and Conſtancy are ſhewn,
Loving to all, but chief to me alone:
Contented I my Freedom would reſign,
And bleſs the gracious Powers that made her mine.
In every State and Circumſtance below,
Whether to taſte of Pleaſure, or of Woe;
With her each varied Part I could ſuſtain,
Enjoy the Pleaſure, or endure the Pain:
The Jilt, the Prude, the Coquet, all ſhould be,
Alike deſpis'd, abandon'd, left by me.
The Heireſs too, that proudly counts her Ore,
Should ſigh in vain, in vain produce her Lure;
Her Wit and Wealth, and Airs I'd all deſpiſe;
Such Charms have no Temptations in mine Eyes.
No Views, like theſe, ſhall ever ſway my Mind---
I'm to all Charms, but thoſe of Merit, blind.
